Crashes Cable While Raiding Northern France

Hitting a cable obstruction while raiding along in a Mustang fighter plane at several hundred miles an hour is an experience likely to end all experiences on this earth, but Lt. L. Harvey Arthur Blue, fighter pilot with the R.C.A.F. tactical group overseas, had just that experience and is home in Edmonton looking very fit.

Son of John Blue, well-known secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce for many years, and Blue, of 1522 100 avenue, Lt. Blue will enjoy a well-earned furlough of 30 days before taking on new duties as an instructor, somewhere in Canada.

It was during a sweep over Northern France in rainy, misty weather that young Blue had his cable-hitting experience.

"I was just at top level over a Nazi barracks looking for soldiers when I hit the cable. It had been stretched across the field for the purpose that it served in my case. It was rainy and dark and I didn't see it," Lt. L. Blue said.

The Most Dangerous Day of the War

The most dangerous day of the war will be the day after Hitler's downfall—regardless of whether his reign ends by murder, resignation or flight.

In the course of the year, presumably before next autumn, German big business and Prussian generals will realize that they have lost the war. This, and the misery of the German people caused by the bombings, will doom the Nazi party and bring about a forceful overthrow of its leaders.

By Roosevelt Pre-Invasion Recognition Of French Is "Ruled Out"

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserted yesterday the principle of self-determination is the core of United States policy toward France, but, by implication, he ruled out any pre-invasion recognition of the French Committee of National Liberation.

Mr. Roosevelt's position has been stated formally to the British government with whom there must be agreement on the orders to be issued by the combined chiefs of staff before the invasion of Western Europe. As yet, Britain has no reply.

Yesterday's discussion of the French question by the President at a news conference coincided with an announcement in London that Edward R. Stettinius, undersecretary of state, had arrived there for conversations with the British foreign office. Mr. Stettinius may seek to clarify the American position and, if necessary, urge an early decision for joint action through the combined chiefs of staff.

CANT CO-OPERATE
Refusing the issuance of orders by this military board, French officers assigned by the committee to headquarters of the Allied command are not officially able to co-operate in preparations for ruling liberated areas of France.

Mr. Roosevelt took on these diplomatic questions.

Italian—the armistice terms imposed on Italy remain primarily of military importance and the President said he did not believe their disclosure could be expected soon.

Elsewhere it was learned the A-1 advisory committee for Italy will take up this week the question of reconstituting the Bonoglio government, an action dependent upon recognition of King Victor Emmanuel which is already being arranged.

NO PEACE PROPOSAL
Balkan.—The President said it was true that Prince Barbu Streye of Romania is in Cairo but that no peace proposals have come to Washington as a result of Streye's activities.

Foreign Policy—The President has gone over a draft of part of Secretary Hull's speech on American foreign policy, to be made Sunday.

Mr. Hull still is working on the speech which may contain significant disclosures on such recent foreign policies as the French and Italian questions and tightening up on European neutrals to prevent their co-operating with Germany.

It is understood that the United States is strongly opposed to recognizing the French committee as a government for metropolitan France until after the committee has had a chance to prove it can follow invading armies into France, or win the support of the people and actually do the governing.

U.S. Soldier Gives Life To Safeguard Comrades

By FRANK L. MARTIN

SOMEWHERE ON THE INDIA-BURMA BORDER, April 8.—(AP)—An American soldier, only a few yards from safety, drowned rather than cry for help and give the position of his American and British friends to the enemy.

Sgt. Etel L. Nienaber of Columbia, Mo., was in a party of American air commandos and British troops who were escaping from a Japanese ambush in the jungle. When the ambush reached the river he and the other non-swimmers were told not to make any noise even if they couldn't make it.

The other bank was in the hands of the Allies.

SWIMMER TIRES
Half way across, a swimmer's efforts Nienaber became exhausted and went under when he halted to take off his shoes. When the swimmer came up Nienaber was 20 feet downstream. Nienaber's escort swim quickly toward him, but it was too late. He saw Nienaber looking at him with his lips clamped together. Nienaber took a final breath and died.

Letter from Home!

CALGARY, April 8.—(CP)—

Rated by visiting stockmen as the greatest cattle sale in Canadian history—a $200,000 spending spree—on a purebred bulls—the Calgary Spring Bull Sale wound up last night with new marks in both quality and quantity written into the record books.

Three individual Hereford bulls sold for prices higher than the 20-year local record for the breed but buyers showed sharp disagreement with the judges when they established the top prize paid for a bull that was unplaced in the spring show that preceded the sale.

BIDS NEW RECORD

I. V. Wolfe of Edmonton bid the new record when he paid $2,600 to M. Campbell of Stavely for Pine County Britisher 603, 14,000, 550. This was paid to J. A. Crawford-Frost of Nanton for his champion Mercury 17308. Third bull sold for the former record price of $2,500 was Campbell's Pine County Britisher 603, 14,002, which was sold to George C. Smale of Millville for $2,600.

Official figures for the week of intensive auction selling showed a total of nearly a third of a million dollars changing hands at the sale.

The 24 bulls of three breeds that went through the ring brought a total of $20,000, or an average of $833.00 compared with the stacked total and $414.00 average for 625 bulls of the same breeds in the War Charities Fat Stock and Alberta Breeders' Association sale this week, the figures rose to $2,600 for the former record price of $2,500.

Canuck Airmen Tell of Attack On Big Warship

LONDON, April 8.—(CP)—Sunk and flame from the German battleship Bismarck, which was in her northern Norwegian lair, were reported by a Canadian airmen.

The airmen, who were on a patrol mission, saw the ship on the night of April 7, and reported that it was being attacked by the first plane to hit it.

Dear
Hon. Solon Earl Loe, Alberta's provincial treasurer and minister of education, was named on Thursday at Toronto, to be leader of the Social Credit Association of Canada.

Mr. Loe, who resides in Edmonton, was first elected to the Legislature in 1935, from the constituency of Watrous, in the southern part of the province.

Running for re-election there in 1940, he was defeated by James Walker, who now leads the Independent Party of Alberta. Mr. Loe ran in a by-election in Vegreville after his defeat in Watrous.

He assumed the provincial treasurer's post in 1937, and in 1941, after the death of Premier William Abernethy, took over the post of minister of education.

"Oh, what a beautiful morning! What a beautiful day!" the avon owner's delight, was a beautiful day in Edmonton this week, when the weatherman predicted it to be a beautiful day.

They must have killed a lot of people," he added. "From then the ship's gun never fired. Only three batteries put up some sort of barrage."

Another bomb hit after three months. The ship's last long thought, and it was just another Easter morning again.

April 3
Home building in Edmonton got away to a great start during the first three months of 1944 with 80 permits being taken out for the construction of dwellings, compared with 37 for the same period of 1943.

Edmonton employment officials intend to place as many as possible of the 500 miners laid off in this city as other essential industries A. O. MacLachlan, selective service officer, said Monday.

The Rev. and Mrs. Clifford T. Paulson have arrived home in Canada with their three small children from China, where they were forced to flee in 1941.

ADDRESSES ON THE MOVE IN SPITE OF ALL WAR HAZARDS THEir LETTERS REACHED YOUR MEN OVERSEAS LAST YEAR

Do you remember the "Change of Address" form which you filled out when you moved your civilian home? After that was filed at your local Post Office, every letter sent to your old address had to be redirected to the new one, and that went on until your correspondents were familiar with your new location.

Probably you didn't move very often, but each time you did, the Post Office gave redelivery service. And if you think about that for a moment, you will begin to see what a stupendous task confronts the Canadian Postal Corps in handling the military mails, when thousands of men are being moved almost daily!

Yet, in spite of the need of tracing men from reinforcement units to their locations on fighting fronts . . . in spite of the need of tracing them through hospitalization . . . or while on leave . . . when their unit is moved . . . in spite of delays in air mail service caused by adverse flying conditions . . . of delays in surface transportation caused by enemy action . . .

in spite of every war hazard you can think of . . . your Post Office and the Canadian Postal Corps delivered 31,500,000 letters to men overseas in 1943!

It is inevitable that, in tracing men who have been moved, or wounded, some delays occur. It is inevitable that enemy action and bad weather will delay some mail. But everything that human ingenuity and effort can do to give you a service that makes speedier delivery of the letters your men are waiting for, is being well and thoroughly done, and will be done. New methods of speeding mail deliveries are being put into effect, new possibilities are being studied. Think of your own friends who have been posted to new locations overseas, and realize the task of tracing them when their mail arrives at their former address!

You can help your Post Office and the Canadian Postal Corps to give even better service if you will take a moment to make sure that your mail is correctly prepared. Do these simple things . . .

1. Always be sure each letter or parcel (properly packed) is fully and correctly addressed.

2. Use light-weight paper for

Stocking Up

If the cattle-growing industry is in the parlous position that some political agriculturists have been talking about a lot of Alberta farmers do not know how to run their business, for at the spring sales they have been buying breeding stock in larger numbers than ever before. It is evident that these men think they are making money raising cattle, and think they will be able to go on making money at least long enough for the winter to stock up these high priced animals to market.

As between these producers of cattle and those who have been so busy during the winter proving that there is no money to be made in the business, the odds are on the farmers. They haven't even been able to get out statements of profit and loss to convince the public that the cattle-growing is both a paying and a promising branch of farming. Their actions speak louder than words.

Keeping Them Informed

Conspicuously reticent as it is on other phases of the fighting, Moscow is now about obliging in giving out information on one subject. Day by day it supplies Berlin with full particulars as to the number of German soldiers who have been killed in each of the several pockets where they have been rounded up for convenient liquidation.

The people in the Reich are thus left in no uncertainty as to what is happening to their sons, brothers and relatives in the eastern theatre. Nor as to the cumulative results of the operations there. The picture presented to them is one of the honourable growth of smaller and smaller, permanently smaller, and weaker, Stalingrad, Cherkassy, the Crimea, Odessa, and so on. These are words which carry a tremendous significance for the Russians, the Fuehrer, terrible for his personal meaning and for the defeat it so pointedly indicates. What is going on in the east is the result of Odessa and Skala must bring more than agony to German minds. The futility of the needless sacrifice cannot surely fail to suggest itself also.

Temporary Guests

Two hundred and seventy-six men and women refugees from Hitlerism have arrived in Canada. They come from the over-run countries, perhaps some also from Germany. Among them are school teachers, farmers, nurses, teachers. A national committee guarantees that they will not become public charges, they will be given asylum in the Dominion until the war ends. Then, if they desire, they are to return to the countries from which they were driven out, or if they are chased them into exile agree or do not agree.

This point is important, and Canada should see that their return and re-establishment in their homelands is provided for in the articles of peace. It may be that the full rights of citizenship will be given to these exiles before permanent residents. But there should be no question about their entire liberty to go back and live in their own countries if they wish. Nazism would gain one of its main objectives if people who have been driven out of Nazi-ruled lands were not restored to their full rights of citizenship. The conditions which will make certain that these rights will not again be taken away from them.

No More Sakhalin Oil

The Japanese are to get out of the Russian half of Sakhalin Island, bag and baggage, taking mined coal and stored oil with them, but handing back oil and coal concessions which were due to expire until 1970. The pro-Jap clauses in the agreement are obviously face-saving formulae rather than compensatory provisions. What is to be done with the Russian swing the big club and Tokyo capitulated. It was by the same method that Japan obtained the concessions back in 1925. It was then ready for war with Russia. That clearly understood fact was the basis of the negotiations by which Japan gained the oil and coal concessions on Sakhalin. No claim whatever and which Russia gave up only because it was not in position to fight. Having now lost the war, Russia Moscow cancels the concessions 26 years ahead of time—and Tokyo acquiesces, with or without the chairman of the League of Nations.

That this is a blow to Japan's war economy is plain enough, though how long it will take to show the effect is doubtful. A point to note is that Russia is not to supply any oil to Japan until after the end of the war. Unless large reserves have been accumulated in the last few weeks, look elsewhere for fuel to keep their planes flying and their warships moving.

Burma has come back into the war news

There are two offensives running in the upper section of that jungled land, the Japs staking one and the Allies the other. They are nowhere near the other, their antagonist is on the drive where the other might be expected to be the aggressor. And in each case considerable progress has been made.

In the west the Japs have invaded India's northeast province of Manipur; aiming to cut the new life-line between India and China, connecting the new Burma road with the Nipponese captured the lower section of that highway.

But 200 miles in the rear of these Jap invasion columns, on the other side of the country, Allied command forces and paratroops are driving from north and south toward Myitkyina, the main Jap base in the wholehearted effort to be supposed to be to clear the enemy out of northern Burma before the rainy season begins in a few weeks, and connect up the new China life-line with the upper section of the Burma road.

In neither area has the fighting yet reached the decisive stage, and in jungle warfare it is even more difficult to usual to forecast the outcome of a battle or a campaign. It seems fair to assume, however, that the tangled situation has come about through Allied not Japanese initiative. The Allied leaders in the jungle are not men to have plunged far into enemy territory without preparations and plans and sufficient forces. Nor without knowing that back in Assam there are suitable arrangements to take care of the Japanese who are driven out of the jungle. It looks like a forlorn hope among the hills of Manipur.

The war department at Washington estimates that 100,000 Japanese soldiers are marooned on islands in the South China Sea. The Japanese are not to be killed, or surrendered—wads that they won't surrender. That is a sizable army, even if pressed down and flattened out, and it can probably be disposed of with nothing like the Allied losses incident to a big battle on one of the islands. The Japs could land men on the islands, but they could keep control of the sea and air, and thus supply and reinforce them. Control having passed to the Allies, he can write off the maroons as lost assets.

Canada is to contribute during the coming year $800,000,000 toward mutual aid, and the relief and rehabilitation fund of the United Nations. The money will go in the form of munitions and supplies to Britain, Russia, Australia and China. Assistance given to the United Nations is not charged up to the collectible debt. One way or another a good deal of the money will come back in future as an honourable discharge of obligations, but there is no documentary provision to that effect. So long as the munitions and supplies are used against the Axis, the accounts will be considered squared, even if the recipients are never in position to pay.

Raise Payments To Dairy Farmers In New Zealand

AUCKLAND, N.Z., April 8.—(CP)—Prime Minister Peter Fraser yesterday announced a system of increased payments to farmers for dairy products to meet an appeal from the United Kingdom for an increase.

He also announced that the government, with the concurrence of the British and United States governments, would withdraw essential men, particularly those with farming experience, from the armed forces as necessary.

The butterfat return to farmers will be boosted from 17½ pence (about 18 cents) to 38½ pence a pound and subsidy of 20 shillings (about $3.60) a head would be paid on all higher calves above five in number. A subsidy of 15 shillings will be paid on approved hog feeding crops.

See 'Complications' If Dewey Is Chosen

LONDON, April 8.—(CP)—The London News-Chronicle said in an editorial today that if Governor Thomas Dewey of New York became the Republican presidential nominee, "the world may be kept completely in the dark about America's foreign policy until after the election, and this unhappy state of things will only be avoided if Mr. Hull, (United States Secretary of State) succeeds in getting the Republicans to take foreign affairs out of politics."

The paper said Wendell L. Willkie's retirement as a candidate for the Republican nomination meant that from one point of view the political outlook in the United States becomes more obscure than ever.

So far as American policy affects the rest of the world, the issue which dominates all others is internationalism versus isolationism.

If America elects a president and policy. But Governor Dewey has not yet declared himself on this issue.

"Mr. Willkie is an internationalist. Had the fight been between him and Roosevelt, there would have been little to choose between them from the standpoint of world policy. But Governor Dewey has not yet declared himself on this issue."

The first of the commercial steam engines that operated early industrial plants were lubricated with melted beef tallow.

So Long, Son...

By Howard Vincent O'Brien

There was no hand, no ceremonial. It wasn't even dramatic. A car honked outside and he said, "Well, I guess that's for me." He picked up his bag, and his mother's letter. He kissed her and held out his hand to me. "Well, so long," he said. "I took his hand but all I could say was 'Good luck.' The door slammed and that was that—another boy gone to war."

I had advised waiting for the draft, waiting at least until he was old enough to register. He had smiled at that, and assured me that his mind was made up. He wanted peace, he said. Without peace, what good was living?

There was finally in the way he said this—a finality at once grim and gentle. I had said no more about waiting. After the door closed behind him I went upstairs to what had been his room. It was in worse chaos than usual. Clothing was scattered about—dancing pants, a tennis racket, his photograph records, letters. Invitations to parties he now would not attend.

I went then to my room. On the wall was a picture of a little boy, his toothless grin framed in curls—the same boy who had just taken my hand and said, "Well, so long."

Not much time, I thought, between the making of that picture and the slamming of the front door. Suddenly a queer thing happened. Objects came alive, whispered to me. The house was full of soft voices. They led me up to the attic—a box of toy soldiers, a football helmet, a home-made guitar, class pictures, a stamp album, a penny bank with the lid prised off. The voices led me on to a folder of letters—among them the one of an exasperated father. "Though he looks like an angel,"—a baptismal certificate, a ribbon won in a track meet, faded photographs, one taken on the memorable first day of long pants.

I sat down and thought how time had flown. Why, it was only yesterday when I had held him in my arms! That, somehow, made me remember all the scoldings I had given him, the preachments, the exhortations.

At Christ Church

The Rev. E. S. Otley, R.A., L.Th., pastor of Christ Church who will conduct a special children's Easter service on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

exhortation to a virtue and wisdom I did not myself possess. I thought too of my last heartless "Good luck" and wished that I had been able to tell him how much I really loved him. Had he perhaps penetrated my brusque reserve? Had he guessed what was in my heart?

And then I thought: What fools are we with our children—always plotting what we shall make of them, always planning for a future that never comes, always intent on what they may be, never accepting what they are!

Well, curly-head—you're a man now. I hated to see you go, but I would not have halted you if I could. I cannot pretend I am not sad. But I am proud too!

60 to 200 Poles Slain Each Day STOCKHOLM, April 5.—(AP)—The Germans are executing from 60 to 200 poles a day in the Warsaw area, the Polish telegraph agency said yesterday. Quoting Poles who escaped from a Norwegian prison camp, they said names of 14-year-old youths appeared on the posters announcing the executions.

Ta To Tomorrow ... for the Canada of Tomorrow!

Side by side with working to win the war we must plan to win the peace. While there must be not the slightest relaxation of our fighting effort until the white flag of surrender is run up in Berlin and Tokyo—yet, if postwar readjustment and re-employment are to be effected promptly and effectively, we must all plan today for the Canada of tomorrow. Some such planning is already afoot. Some after-Victory blueprinting is being undertaken by governments, municipalities and industries. But planning is your job, too. You have a home to plan for . . . or a business . . . or a farm. Remember, by planning today we prepare ready-made markets for tomorrow—markets which will absorb our nation's fullest productivity and so create full and gainful employment for all in the important years that will follow Victory.

Let us plan to Improve Our Homes

Let us plan their re-fitting, re-furnishing, and re-furnishing; Let us plan better homes, healthier, lighter and lovelier homes. Let us plan to equip them to save labour and save time . . . to provide new comfort and new convenience.

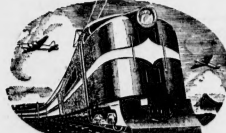

Let us plan to Improve Our Business

Whether we run a farm, a factory, an office or a store, let us plan its modernization. Let us plan its re-equipment and re-organization. Let us plan to install new machines . . . new lighting. Let us plan to bring our businesses up to date . . . to expand and improve them for better service, increased output and the manufacture of better products.

Let us plan Worthier Communities

Let us press for improvement in our cities, towns and villages. New housing is needed . . . new schools and enlarged universities . . . new hospitals and libraries. New recreational facilities are required, new parks, arenas, swimming pools, dramatic centres and galleries. New civic centres are needed. For safety and convenience new traffic thoroughfares and improved street lighting are required. Plans to end the nuisance of smoke and soot are needed.

Let us plan Swifter, Safer Transportation

Highways, railways, airways—let us plan for the modernization and betterment of them all. Let us plan new roads, broad and straight . . . with wide traffic lanes well lit and well graded. Let us plan improved street cars, bus and trolley coach services. Let us plan railroad electrification . . . new bridges . . . new cloverleaves . . . new airports.

Let us plan Extended Rural Electrification

Let us plan to modernize our farms—with electricity. Let us build new rural power lines, until the benefits of "electrical living"—with its conveniences, economies and comforts—reach an ever-increasing number of hamlets and farms! Let us plan, in country and town, for fuller living, greater opportunity, and peace-time employment for everyone!

Bill Durnan
SPORTS EDITOR

THE fact that Bill Durnan pulled a perfect vote in the annual Canadian Press selections should at least partially account for what many considered was slip-up when the Calder rookie award which landed him in 10th place in the scoring list, Gus Bodnar of course turned in a fine performance, but it hardly measured up to Durnan's consistently great goaling.

Durnan is the only rookie ever to be named to the first team in the all-star selections, but he also happens to be the only Canadian who made the grade this year. On this first thought is rather odd in view of the runaway race that club made in the league and is well on the way to duplicate in the playoffs.

And if it seems peculiar just one Canadian caught the first team, it is nonetheless remarkable that not a single Detroit made either line-up, although the Red Wings were the first team to make the playoffs. On this thought is rather odd in view of the runaway race that club made in the league and is well on the way to duplicate in the playoffs.

BIG YEAR FOR N.H.L.
NATIONAL Hockey League players should show a fairly tidy profit for the year's operations, and it seems hard to escape the conclusion that the veterans must be considerably, it is only reasonable to surmise a drop in the salary scale with so many new recruits and old timers on the rosters.

Toronto's home games are expected to be worth $200,000 and 27 ordinary league fixtures are played. Toronto's home games are expected to be worth $200,000 and 27 ordinary league fixtures are played.

Ex-Heavyweight Tells Tall One About a Rattler

NEW YORK, April 8.—There were many exciting moments in his more than 150 fights, including a half hour battle with a rattler and a couple with Tom Gibbons, but the ex-heavyweight came just the other day to fight the Sackel in the Sackel's Hole, Wyo.

French Use Bows, Arrows In Fight Against Nazis

By REGINAL LANGFORD

ZURICH, April 8.—(CP)—Several centres of French resistance in the Maquis have been liquidated, but dozens of others are fighting on. Lacking other equipment, some groups are using bows and arrows in their battle against the Nazis.

According to reports reaching

Switzerland, one-fifth of all resistances have been killed or forced to surrender by lack of food. Many have fled to join the Italian underground movement.

In a last desperate bid to rout the Maquis, the Germans have been using flame-throwers, planes and special mountain artillery. Chateaux in the region have been destroyed, but the stubborn

Frenchmen have retreated to caves.

The Germans are taking no prisoners, but shooting every man who is captured or who surrenders. Vichy troops make a pretence of giving their countrymen regular court martial, they follow the German execution procedure in the end.

More than 3,000 civilians in Haute Savoie have been arrested by the German and Vichy troops in recent weeks. A general practice has been to imprison the wives, fiancées and friends of the patriots. Many women have been

Allied Newsmen Ready to Cover West Invasion

By RUSS MUNRO

LONDON, April 8.—(CP)—Between 350 and 400 Allied war correspondents will have a part in covering the invasion of western Europe. This is the approximate total of war reporters accredited to supreme headquarters of the Allied expeditionary force to write of army, navy or air force activities. A comparatively small number of writers will go with the assault forces in the initial phase but others will follow up later with formations which push through the bridgeheads.

A fairly large number of correspondents will remain in Britain for some time covering various headquarters, hospital and naval bases here and also handling the flood of copy from the front which will pour through London.

COVER THREE ARMIES

All correspondents accredited to British, United States and Canadian forces here were re-accredited to S.H.A.E.F. And this higher accreditation will enable them to cover any of the three armies they wish once facilities are available.

Thus Canadian writers will be eligible to cover American or British forces once they are accredited to S.H.A.E.F., even if not formally accredited to those other forces.

Press and radio coverage is being worked out this way on a basis of British, American and Canadian co-operation, all going through Supreme Headquarters.

About 20 Canadians have been re-accredited to S.H.A.E.F. Headquarters said, but all will be assigned to the Canadian forces.

MANY U.S. WRITERS

There will be around 150 British reporters and between 200 and 250 American writers and a handful of Australians, Indians and Fighting French covering the invasion.

Wireless facilities are being planned to transmit the stories to London from the continent and field censor will go forward with the front-line reporters. Air couriers, boats and even pigeons also will be used to bring copy back to Britain to the regular London cable heads.

The Canadian public relations organization is making detailed plans to handle their correspondents and wireless facilities are being prepared. The transport allotment will be one Jeep and trailer—which is an innovation, to help carry kit—for every two correspondents accompanied by a conducting officer and an army driver. Canadian public relations had more time to prepare this operation than any previous one.

Poles Announce Underground Now Aids Red Forces

LONDON, April 8.—(CP)—Military co-operation has begun in Volhynia between the Polish underground and the Red Army, the Polish government in London announced yesterday, establishing a link between Moscow and the exiled Polish government.

While this connecting link does not mark a resumption of diplomatic relations between the London Polish government and Moscow, the development was welcomed in British official quarters where efforts had been made for months to heal the breach.

IF each one of us on the home front faces facts realistically—if we unite more forcibly than ever in a grim determination to back up our fighting men—if we in Canada prove ourselves worthy of the sacrifices of our overseas boys

IF we work with all the power that is in us—as if Victory depended on our individual effort. For if one of us fails, then the war might be lengthened—and every extra minute of fighting might cost precious lives . . .

IF each one of us fights a personal battle against luxury—spending—if we buy only what we really need—if we save our quarters and our dollars as our contribution to Victory

IF we invest our savings—and an increasing proportion of our wages—in Canada's own war chest so that the defenders of our country may never lack for the tools of Victory—

The war in Europe MAY be won this year!

The 2nd Battalion The Loyal Edmonton Regiment rifle team competing in the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association competition was awarded one of the cash prizes for the month of January. The results for February have not yet come to hand, but from the scores submitted, it is expected that this team will also be among the cash prize winners for that month. Among those responsible for the fine shooting are Capt. Dan Campbell, CSM O. Munkleton, Cpl. A. J. Verreault, Mr. M. McCoy, J. L. Doray and Pte. A. B. McGee.

Congratulations are extended to Ronald Martland, K.C., on his promotion to the rank of Major, effective April 1. Major Martland is Officer Commanding the Support Company of this unit, and is a partner of the Edmonton firm of barristers, Milner, Steer, Poirier, Martland and Bonker.

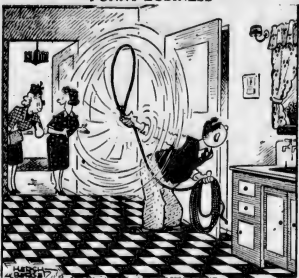

CSM Tommy Booker has been posted to "D" Coy. at Grande Prairie, and while his loss to Edmonton will be regretted, this move will be considered a gain to Grande Prairie personnel.

The majority of whom will recall the efficient training they received from CSM Booker in 1941 and 1942.

After expending the past three months improving their firing efficiency on the indoor miniature range, members of the unit expect to test their marksmanship with service rifles. Plans call for battle drill target practice in addition to regulation "classification" firing exercises.

Members of the Ordnance detachment at Westlock can look forward to a full day of outdoor training on Sunday, April 16, when a

When Neither Too Wet Nor Too Dry, It's Time to Spade

When You Can Make a Muddle From Your Garden Soil, It Is Too Wet to Spade.

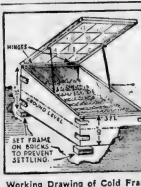

When Slightly Moist Soil Crumbles Easily in Your Hand, It Is Time to Spade.

When all the frost has been thawed out of the soil in the spring, prepare to spade the Victory Garden plot, but first test it to be sure it is neither too wet, nor too dry. The most reliable test is a simple one—call it the muddle test. Pick up a handful of soil and pat it between your palms as you used to do in childhood; if it holds together and makes a nice muddle, then it is too wet to spade. Keep off the soil when it is in this condition, let your feet clove which will prove troublesome all summer. The more clay the soil contains, the more injury it will suffer if spaded when wet. Yet clay soil should not be worked too dry; in fact, you can seldom spade it then, for it is too hard.

Garden Cold Frame Can Be Used Year Around

Every Victory gardener needs a cold frame. In every month of the year there is important service it can render. In the spring it is a nursery for young plants; under its protection vegetables and flowers can be started weeks earlier than they could be sown outdoors; and guarded from belated frosts until time to set them in the garden.

To make a cold frame is so easy, any one who can wield a saw and hammer can do it. It is usually made 3 by 6 feet, or some multiple of this, for the reason that standard holed-back sash are of these dimensions. This standard sash may be used for both hot-beds and cold frames, which are alike except that the cold frame is unheated. But a cold frame (or a hot-bed either)

Working Drawing of Cold Frame

may be any size you wish, to fit old windows, or frames covered with one of the modern glass substitutes. These glass substitutes are worthless, they do not break, and the breakage of glass in windy localities is sometimes considerable. They are much lighter than glass, a merit which women appreciate. They do not let in as much light as glass, but for growing seedlings they let in enough.

The substitutes most commonly used consist either of wire screens covered with material resembling celluloid, or fabrics treated with wax to make them waterproof, and let more light through.

In making a cold-frame, the frame should be constructed of four boards of cypress, white pine or some wood which resists rot. First, dig a hole in the ground slightly larger than the size of the frame. It should be at least a foot deep. Into this hole put the frame, so that it is 6 inches of it beneath the surface and the remainder above. This will insure that no drafts enter from beneath. Construct the frame so that the front is 4 inches above the surface, and the rear, 9 inches. It must slant toward the south, where the winter sun shines. It is well to hinge the sash at the top of the frame, so it can be easily opened for transplanting purposes and air-circulation.

A sunny spot in the garden, protected as much as possible from the full force of wind and driving rain is the best situation for the cold frame. It may be too cold now to dig in the garden, but the sash may be propped and the lumber frame made so that when the first warm days arrive you are ready for serious gardening.

U.S. Draft Boards Plan To "Go Easy" On Men Aged 30-38

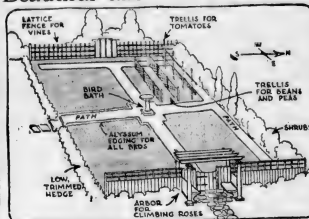

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(AP)—Men of draft age in the United States were divided into three age groups yesterday and local boards were instructed to ease on the men in the 30 to 38 bracket, following a policy laid down by Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey in a speech last Tuesday.

Although dependency as a test for deferment has long since yielded to job essentiality and age, the boards were told that pre-war fathers 30 and over, in cases where all other factors are equal, will normally be accorded job deferments in preference to non-fathers.

Escaped Captives We Not In Care Of Veterans' Guard

OTTAWA, April 8.—(CP)—Col. H. R. Alley, director of the Veterans' Guard of Canada, said in a statement last night that two internees who escaped from a work camp near Thurso, Que., 45 miles east of Ottawa on Wednesday were being guarded by labor department personnel, not members of the V.G.C. men, Kurt Barth, 21, and Karl Meiner, 23, were recaptured Thursday about 21 miles north of the Thurso camp. The camp has since been closed and prisoners transferred elsewhere.

Victory Garden Can Be Beautiful and Productive

An Attractive, Well Designed Vegetable Garden.

A Victory Garden may easily be a beautiful feature of the home grounds. Many large private estates offer object lessons for the owners of small grounds, in the way they make vegetable gardens attractive.

Such gardens are usually surrounded by well marked boundaries of plants, or fencing; and they are divided by paths which make an interesting pattern, and give access to the garden area. Paths may be bordered with flowers, or with some of the perennial vegetables, such as chives and rhubarb.

Lattices to surround the garden are easily made, the lumber of the right size being on sale by many dealers, or it can be cut to any desired measurement. Lattice painted green and supporting climbing beans or other vines offers one of the finest garden boundaries.

Rustle-fences from branches cut from forest trees which have been felled furnish another attractive feature. The rustic lattice for grapes and on smaller scale for tall peas, pole beans and cucumbers is also extensively used.

Trellises for peas are simple and easily made at small expense so that they become an attractive feature of the garden and much more pleasing to the eye than brush or chicken wire so often used. Wire is too often put up so that it presents various bulges and curves instead of being tightly stretched. It is a simple matter to frame it attractively and to put down firm posts so that it may be stretched and not in danger of being dragged over by the weight of vines, particularly after a rain.

In many school gardens where the idea of beauty in the vegetable garden is inculcated, a sundial or bird bath is used as a central feature of the vegetable garden. This is an excellent device to add ornamental qualities, and a small bed of flowers about it will make it a feature that redeems the entire vegetable garden from a commonplace appearance.

If the rear fence which bounds the garden happens to be of plain boards it can be easily trimmed with latticework or fitted with vines for vines so that by midsummer it will be an ornamental feature of the garden.

Views Expressed In Soviet Press Not All Official

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW, April 8.—(AP)—Everything that appears in the Soviet press now is not necessarily an official expression of the Russian government's point of view.

This may help to answer the question of some followers of Soviet foreign policy who have been considerably puzzled during recent months over stories and editorials appearing in Moscow papers and accepted abroad as official expressions of opinion. The fact that editors and writers have been put on their own may explain numerous articles which have upset foreign interpreters of Soviet foreign policy.

Views Not CHANGED

High Allied diplomats in Moscow never believed the Soviets had changed their point of view since they did not understand some of the things appearing in the press. The newspaper Pravda's "separate peace" rumor was one of these, the attack on Wendell Willkie was another, and the attack on the Pope was a third, to mention only three.

Soviet officials have intimated recently they were not pleased with some of the interpretations in Britain and the United States over matters the Russians believed were perfectly clear and understandable measures. Particularly they did not like the way some sections of the foreign press interpreted the Soviet's reorganization into 36 republics.

In friendly, informal discussions with high-ranking Soviets, Allied representatives here have pointed out that British and American readers accept everything they read from Pravda, Izvestia and Red Star as official expressions of the Kremlin.

At least one Soviet official with authority said Russian writers are expressing what they think and the Kremlin is far too busy these days with winning the war to survey every line in the press. Responsible editors are managing Moscow's three big newspapers and they have veteran communist writers whose ability and judgment the leaders trust.

..Easter Prayers..

GOD of all nations and God of all men, open our minds and hearts to the truth which can tell us that the only race on earth is the race of the living; help us to join together in nobility and in respect the peoples of all lands and of all colors in a family of humanity. In this our life on earth help us to make of it a time of work, of peace, of progress. Give us the understanding by which we may know good from evil, and the courage and the strength to fortify the one and to destroy the other. Give us the awareness by which we may learn as one man the dignity and reality of a common faith nursed by knowledge instead of ignorance, by integrity instead of deceit, by hope instead of fear. Give us, O God, the higher intelligence to tell us that the earth we stand on is common ground, and give us the oneness of purpose and vision to build on that ground a home of eternal freedom.

Attend Church...

TOGETHER, civilians and those in uniform will will raise their voices this Easter in hymns of hope. Hope that the spirit of the season might reach around the world and invest all mankind with that same love of peace and true desire for freedom, which gives to the democracies their strength and perseverance in the struggle to liberate those who are enslaved.

And as Easter signifies the very resurrection of Christ, we shall aspire to the resurrection of His spirit, in men's souls which have been broken by the warped and vile leadership of Nazi and fascist fanatics.

Wherever this Easter may find your loved ones, do not spend it alone, here at home! After Church invite a few men and women in uniform—far from their own homes—to share with you the songs, prayers, hopes and festivities of the holy day...

Post-War Employment Problem Discussed by Mrs. C. Casselman

"The problem of post-war employment for women must definitely not be treated apart from the welfare of the nation," Mrs. C. Casselman, M.P. for East Edmonton, said Friday afternoon.

Addressing an assembly of members of the Edmonton Business and Professional Women's club, at a given in her home, Mrs. Casselman, a civic, civic, Mrs. Casselman submitted a sub-committee report on post-war employment and the possibilities of training and rehabilitation which was tabled in January.

She said that the report emphasized the need for extending and expanding the national social security program, placing greater emphasis on health insurance for everyone.

The report fully discussed the status of working women during the war, and the possibilities of their employment in the post-war.

She pointed out, it is anticipated, that, more than half of the women presently working, will continue to work, and that more than one half million women in the United States are expected to increase of about 200,000 over the pre-war employment.

WOMEN PROVE ABILITY
Mrs. Casselman said that it will be necessary for the country to realize that women are not merely "decorations or drudges," and that they have proved their ability to take part in every phase of our national life. This she continued could only be achieved by bringing about equality in remuneration and conditions of employment and equality with a chance at advancement.

She said that among other things, the report emphasized the need for making home life more attractive for married women, single women, and especially farm women.

FULL PUBLICATION
Full publication of the report she said will probably be made in the future. She was introduced by Mrs. Jean MacCallum, president of the club, who was also present.

The table was set with an eel cake, centered with a tall, bowl of spring flowers, and a large, colorful centerpiece. Mrs. Casselman, Mrs. John Young, and other members of the executive assisted in serving.

Mrs. V. Batho Is Delegate

The St. Wilfrid Laurier chapter, T.O.D.S. at the April meeting held Tuesday evening, appointed Mrs. Victor Batho, the recent, as delegate to the annual provincial meeting to be held at the Macdonald hotel, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

An instructive talk was given by Mrs. Robert Kirkpatrick, secretary, on the organization and the national system of the T.O.D.S. primary chapter, to the national branch. She also gave a preview of the program of the forthcoming provincial meeting.

QUOTA HIGHER

Richard Macdonald, N.Y. League convenor, told members that many knitted articles would soon be needed for the T.O.D.S. It is imperative that more knitters be listed, as the quota for the year is higher than that of 1943.

Mrs. Wen Van Duyn, child and family welfare convenor, has arranged for the making of terrapin, from old greeting cards, and distribution of fruit for the pleasure of children, and the pleasure of out-of-town. The latter is a regular project undertaken by the group.

Mrs. M. Palmer reported that the tables of bridge and cards, Municipal chapter with its recent annual bridge held at the Macdonald hotel, Mrs. E. G. Dommell and Mrs. Brice Van Duyn will be in charge of a rummage sale, and held in the late spring.

The dress of the Month club, sponsored by the chapter, announces that the April dress was awarded to Miss Ruth Halsey, 11123 101 street.

WOMEN PROVE ABILITY
Mrs. Casselman said that it will be necessary for the country to realize that women are not merely "decorations or drudges," and that they have proved their ability to take part in every phase of our national life.

This she continued could only be achieved by bringing about equality in remuneration and conditions of employment and equality with a chance at advancement.

She said that among other things, the report emphasized the need for making home life more attractive for married women, single women, and especially farm women.

FULL PUBLICATION
Full publication of the report she said will probably be made in the future. She was introduced by Mrs. Jean MacCallum, president of the club, who was also present.

Canada's Synthetic Rubber Production Helps Replace Sources Lost to Japanese Military Requirements are Being Filled by 185-Acre Plant in Southern Ontario

Dotted throughout the 185-acre plant of the Polymer Corporation near Sarnia, Ont., are grey steel Horton spheres used in the production of synthetic rubber.

Thirteen in number, they are 51 feet in diameter, and will hold 12,000 barrels of hydrocarbons. Five above contain butadiene, one of chief ingredients of Buna-S.

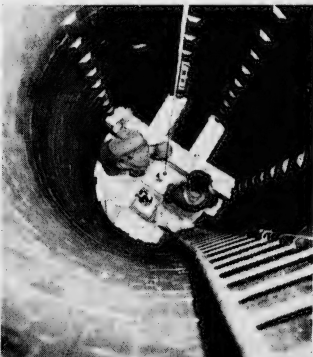

Giant tower at Sarnia synthetic rubber plant took five days to move on three flat cars from Montreal, was one of the biggest jobs in building Polymer plant.

New plant is first of its kind in the Dominion. It began production one year after the first sod was turned, and it's now rolling out rubber for victory.

It looks dangerous but it doesn't, bother the masked welder. He's part of crew who built latest addition to Canadian industry that turns out synthetic rubber.

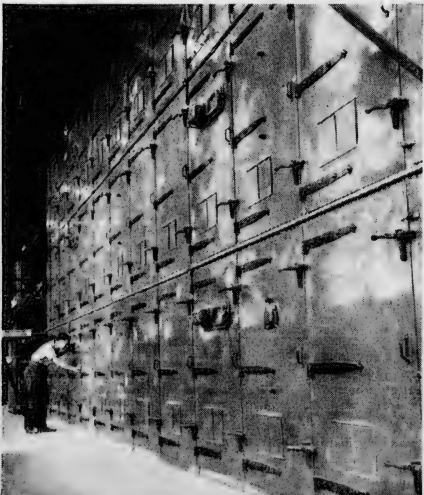

Interior of retort used in production of synthetic rubber for planes, life-rafts, trucks, other weapons. It works on same principle as school lab. retorts.

Doris Bannon of Proton, Ontario, oiling and adjusting recorder that keeps tab on temperature during process making synthetic rubber. She is graduate of Queen's.

Peter Krywicki of Sarnia and Toronto, regulates flow of synthetic latex that will be dried, weighed and baled for shipment to factory making military tires.

Howard Hayes, Western University graduate, looks through window at side of drier to see synthetic rubber move along continuous roller. Each drier is 65 feet long, 23 feet high, 10 feet wide.

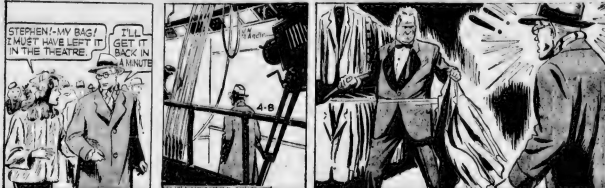

Every 87 seconds 75-pound bales of synthetic rubber are turned out. Annual rate is 38,000 tons. Henry Deguire, left, Lyle Bell, right, weigh bales and then pack them in cartons for shipment.

Stock piles of tires for military trucks grow higher and higher as Canada's synthetic rubber production swings upward, replacing sources lost when Japan attacked natural rubber producing areas.
